

I strongly believe that consumers of cellular phone service should have number portability. It's been available on landlines for many years and should be the same with cell phones